

SINODA™ DEVICE

As a Registered Respiratory Therapist, I have found the SINODA™ to be extremely helpful when treating patients who require both high levels of supplemental oxygen and nebulized medication. This was especially important during the COVID-19 pandemic, when it was often very challenging to administer respiratory treatments without interrupting a patient's oxygen support.

The SINODA™ provides a simple and practical way to deliver inhaled medication and oxygen simultaneously. Its versatility and ease of use help simplify complicated treatment setups while maintaining necessary respiratory support. Based on my experience, I believe the SINODA™ is a valuable tool for respiratory therapists and highly recommend it.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Meagan Babione". The script is cursive and fluid, with the first name "Meagan" and last name "Babione" clearly distinguishable.

Meagan Babione, RRT, CPFT